

WEDDING FOLLOWS DIVORCE.

Lord Hamilton Dalzell and Mrs. William Lawson Married in London.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 24. — There was a quiet sequel to a sensational divorce case to-day in the wedding of Lord Hamilton Dalzell and Mrs. William Lawson. The newly married couple went to the Continent.

Arrangements were made for a separation between Lieut. Col. the Hon. William Lawson, D. S. O., and his wife last December, pending Col. Lawson's action for a divorce. At the time it was understood that Col. Lawson had traced his wife to the country seat of Lord Hamilton Dalzell, in Scotland, shortly after she was supposed to have left for a trip to Paris.

The suit came up for hearing on Jan. 15 and was undefended, a letter from Lord Hamilton Dalzell being read in court saying he would offer no opposition to a divorce and would make the only amends possible. The evidence was purely formal and a decree nisi was pronounced.

Lord Hamilton Dalzell is well known in London society. He was Lord-in-Waiting to King Edward for five years, and he held the same post under King George until a year ago. The disruption between the Lawsons was a matter of deep regret to the present British monarch.

At the time of her marriage Mrs. Lawson, who was the daughter of the late Gen. Sir Frederick Marshall, K. C. M. G., was only 19 years of age, while her husband was then 23, and her family strongly objected to the match. She is now 43 years old and has four children. Col. Lawson is the second son of Lord Burnham, proprietor of The London Daily Telegraph.

GET ALLEGED GANG FIGHTER.

Youth Arrested as Twelfth Street Battler—Second Victim Dies.

Detectives Deering and Kemp of the Union Market Police Station arrested Herman Linde, aged 19, a driver, at his home, 154 Avenue C, early yesterday morning, and locked him up on suspicion that he was implicated in the gang battle in Twelfth Street, near Avenue A, last Monday evening. The detectives had received information from a woman eyewitness that one of the gangsters who fled from the scene of the shooting had a bandage about his left hand and was bleeding from a wound in the back of the head. The detectives were further informed that Linde had such wounds.

According to the detectives, Linde said that he had received the wounds Tuesday afternoon in Leonard Street, near Broadway, in a fight with another driver, who assaulted him with a cotton hook. Policeman Murphy of the Union Market Station, who knew the prisoner, said that he had met Linde Tuesday, and then he told a different story about his wounds. After examination the detectives found that Linde apparently had a bullet wound in the left shoulder. The prisoner explained that he was shot about three weeks ago at Twelfth Street and Avenue B by a young man who fired on him from a passing automobile.

BIG TERM FOR WHITE SLAVER.

Ten to Twenty Years and $5,000 Fine Imposed on Joseph Miller.

Convicted on a charge of white slavery last Wednesday, Joseph Miller, 35 years, a bartender, of 339 West Thirtieth Street, was sentenced yesterday by Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions to serve not less than ten nor more than twenty years. An additional fine of $5,000 was imposed, and, unless the fine is paid, Miller will have to serve one day for each dollar, making his shortest term twenty-three years.

The complaining witness against Miller was Annie Liener, 20 years, a Hungarian, who gave her address as 30 West Tenth Street. In the indictment it was alleged that Miller procured the girl from the employment bureau of Mrs. Esther Harris, 192 East Third Street, and confined her in a house in Twenty-fourth Street, near Sixth Avenue. When the girl finally told her story to the Immigration Bureau, testifying that Miller had threatened to shoot her because she turned over to him only small sums of money, Miller and also Mrs. Harris were arrested. Mrs. Harris, however, was discharged.

The Immigration Bureau will have the girl deported, as she has not been in this country two years.
